The QC Laboratory is one of the most critical areas in a facility in terms of product safety. It is certainly one of the most critically reviewed areas in regulatory inspections.

Rising expectations, new requirements, staff turnover, repetitious work all make compliance in this area challenging!

It is a requirement to deliver refresher GMP training to this audience, but why not give them something that they would actually find interesting? GMP Service has a reputation for lively, stimulating training that all your staff will be talking about for weeks and months afterwards! Oh and it helps with compliance too!
